Fun Photo Guys® Chooses a Local Printing / Hosting Site

Fun Photo Guys®, a professional photography company based in Pleasant Hill, California, was recently faced with the decision of which Internet Photo Gallery and Printing site to choose. Having used a combination of Flickr and Printroom over the past two years, it was time to rethink the way photos were displayed online and prints sold to customers. After reviewing all of the options, Fun Photo Guys® decided to switch to Redwood City based Shutterfly. According to Kevin Slovick, a company co-founder, some of the deciding factors included the quality, service, ease of use, delivery methods, and proximity to Fun Photo Guys customers. Shutterfly can deliver to the Bay Area faster than most of the alternatives, and they can even send print jobs to a local Target store for pick up. "Reducing the time of delivery and being a Bay Area based company stays with our green business practices" said Kevin.

Fun Photo Guys expects to complete the transition to Shutterfly and update the FunPhotoGuys.com website within two weeks.
